Police Officer James Rutledge won't be marking cars in the business district for the next two weeks. He is going on a vacation, main event of which will be a family reunion on Sunday in the city hall of Holtville, near El Centro. Each year he and his five sisters and three brothers, their spouses, children, and children's children, gather for dinner and to catch up on family news the Sunday before Thanksgiving.

"Last year there were 83 of us," Jim says, and he adds he's the only one that doesn't bring food to the party. "They just ask me to drive down." After the reunion Jim and his wife will go to Las Vegas, but someone else will be marking cars while Jim's away.

A wilderness park for children was suggested at the Tuesday meeting of the city's recreation commission.

Commissioner Gyla Smith proposed that two wooded acres south of the city tennis courts be cleared of poison oak, dead trees and broken glass so that children might have free access to one of Carmel's few forest areas located along Camino del Monte north of Perry Newberry Park, recently dedicated for adult recreation.

Mrs. Smith and Police Chief Clyde Klaumann were appointed a committee to study the proposal by Chairman August Nieto.

River School did not find its dragon. The papier-mache beast turned up missing for the Hallowe'en parade at the school after having been a fixture at the head of the parade almost since the school was first opened. No one knows yet what became of it.

The Pine Cone thought it had a hot lead on the disappearing dragon earlier this month when a

Midst Family Of Bishops Charlie Kinsolving Had An "Exciting" Career

By RAYLYN PENNEY

A long-continuing source of comment and riposte among the friends of Charlie Kinsolving, former executive of Newsweek Magazine, is the very fact that he has been a businessman and newswire service writer and not an Anglican bishop.

Mr. Kinsolving is a son of the late Right Reverend Lucien Lee Kinsolving, former Bishop of Brazil. A brother, the Right Reverend Arthur Barksdale Kinsolving, is Bishop of Arizona, and former chaplain of West Point. Charlie's nephew, namesake and godson, the Reverend Charles Lester Kinsolving, is a clergyman in New Hampshire. His second cousin, the Right Reverend Charles James Kinsolving, is Bishop of New Mexico. An uncle, the late George Herbert Kinsolving, was Bishop of Texas. A first cousin, the Reverend Arthur Lee Kinsolving, is rector of St. James Church in New York City.

"I have thought of organizing a club," says Mr. Kinsolving, who has lived since last year in Carmel, "with membership limited to Kinsolvings who work six days of the week instead of one, and who support the necktie industry. But so far there aren't many eligible except me, my sons and a couple of Kinsolvings who are actors."

"I was once asked by Duell, Sloan and Pearce to do a book on my family. And there was one occasion when Frank Sullivan of The New Yorker magazine tried to sell his boss, the late Harold Ross, on the idea of a magazine trilogy of my family which he said he wanted to call The 20th Century Borgias because if the Kinsolvings want a bishopric or a fashionable city parish, they apparently resort to using potassium permanganate on the opposition.

"Ross decided immediately that 'there must be two million dollars worth of libel in that story,' but Franklin P. Adams, who had been

Episcopal School Plans To Open In Carmel Dec. 4

Yesterday afternoon, Carmel planning commissioners sitting as a board of adjustments granted a use permit to All Saints' Episcopal Parish for a parochial school in parish buildings at Dolores Street and Ninth Avenue.

Following a report of their land use committee they added two conditions to the five recommended by the city council when this body reversed a previous board of adjustments denial of a use permit for Bishop Kip private school.

The new conditions are that installation of street crosswalks at the school site be left to the jurisdiction of the Carmel police department and that the school's alarm and program signals be confined primarily to the inner court of All Saints' compound.

This morning, the Reverend Peter Farmer, headmaster of Bishop Kip School, stated that the parochial school hopes to open in Carmel on December 4.

Twenty-four students are now attending the school located in temporary quarters loaned by York School, an Episcopal private school for boys in Pacific Grove. These students are divided into two grades, kindergarten and first grade; 13 pupils in kindergarten, 11 in first grade. There are two teachers on the faculty in addition to the headmaster.

The council's conditions for the use permit were that the Bishop Kip school be allowed to operate on all Saints' property for two academic years, starting in September 1961 and ending in June 1963; no more than 50 pupils in two grades the first year, three the second, shall be enrolled in the school; only five-day sessions, Monday through Friday of each week, shall be held; there shall be no summer school.

Police Chief Gets Robber Suspect In Twelve Short Minutes

Just 12 minutes after a teller at Carmel Savings and Loan Association notified Carmel police of a hold-up at the bank last Friday, Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann reported that the man, who later admitted the robbery, was in custody and enroute to Carmel Community Hospital with a gunshot wound in the hip.

In federal custody in San Francisco, awaiting arraignment in U. S. District Court is James D. Moyer, 23, a student of Russian at the U. S. Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterey. He is being held in lieu of $25,000 bail on a charge of bank robbery.

According to police reports, a man dressed in orange sweater, tan slacks, dark glasses and carrying a .32 caliber Mauser pistol, approached the teller's window of Rudolph E. Chaney, 37, of Pacific Grove, on Friday at 2:50 o'clock, just before afternoon closing time at the savings association.

He placed a brown paper bag on the counter and asked Chaney to give him all the cash he had. When Chaney emptied a cash drawer into the bag, the man fled

Grassroots Cooperation Necessary, State Scenic Highway Planners Stress

Local and state governments must cooperate fully if California is to have a satisfactory scenic highway system. This was brought out yesterday morning in city hall when members of the State Inter-Departmental Committee on Scenic Highways met for the first time with their citizens' advisory committee. Present, also, were representatives of state organizations interested in the scenic highway program. Members of these groups also stressed need for cooperation of cities and counties with the state in order to establish scenic highway standards.

Senator Fred Farr introduced the speakers and ended the session by remarking that it was up to California counties to help the two scenic highway committees establish criteria for scenic highways by making recommendations. Senator Farr initiated legislation for the scenic highway planning program in this state by introducing bills in the California Senate which led to the establishment of the two state committees which met here yesterday. These committees will report to the State Legislature in March, 1962. This report will go to legislative committees, then scenic highway hearings will be held on suggestions in the report before January 1963. During 1963 Senator Farr prom-

Planners To Act on Two Developments In Business District

Planning commissioners next week will review plans and act on a requested building permit for remodelling the lower floor of a building at the northeast corner of San Carlos Street and Ocean Avenue, owned by Mrs. Mary Goold, into a store. The space was formerly occupied by a real estate office and a doctor's and a dentist's offices.

At the same session, planners will act on plans submitted by August Nieto for a U-shaped development on the west side of Dolores Street above Sixth Avenue. Six shops and Su Vecino restaurant will be located around a court on the lower floor of the Coast Citizens Committee Adds Proposals To Existing Plans For Highway One Scenic Preservation

A list of recommendations from the Coast Citizens Committee was presented for the first time before a session of the Monterey County Planning Commission Tuesday afternoon in Salinas.

The recommendations, which deal with preservation of the scenic character of Monterey County's coastal strip south of Malpaso Creek, were considered along with two plans on the same subject submitted to the commisson previously.

Some 125 people attended the four-hour session presided over by commissioner Keith Evans. The meeting was a continuation of an earlier hearing September 12 in the supervisors' chambers of the court house.

When the hour drew late and a large group of speakers remained yet to be heard from, commissioners decided to continue the sessions once more, this time to February 14.

The two plans were presented before the commission by Nicholas Roosevelt of Big Sur, speaking on the Coast Master Plan popularly known as "the Owings plan" and prepared at the request of Monterey County by Skidmore, Owings and Merrill planning consultants, and James Campbell, who outlined his "Campbell plan."

Carmel High Employe Arraigned Yesterday On Abortion Charge

A Pacific Grove woman employed as a laundress in the girls' gym at Carmel High School was arraigned in Monterey Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of performing an abortion on a San Francisco girl.

Mrs. Cora Daniels, 31, was arrested by Monterey police after San Francisco police interviewed the 20-year-old San Francisco girl. Mrs. Daniels was charged with performing the operation in a Del Monte Avenue motel room August 2.

In 1957 Mrs. Daniels was arrested by Pacific Grove police on a count of conspiracy to commit abortion, but the charge was later

PADRES SECOND IN CCAL B-DIVISION

Final League Standings

	Won	Lost
King City	7	0
Carmel	6	1
Hollister	5	2
Pacific Grove	4	3
Gilroy	3	4
Gonzales	2	5
Live Oak	1	6
San Lorenzo	0	7

Carmel High School's varsity football team earned the runner-up spot in the CCAL B-division standings at Pacific Grove last Friday night as it outlasted the spirited Breakers, 33 to 20, before a standing-room only crowd. Typical of all games played between Carmel and Pacific Grove, this one was hard fought from the opening whistle and could have gone either way as the football took some crazy bounces. While the Breakers and Padres were clashing at Pacific Grove, the mighty King Mustangs found the going easy at Gonzales as they clipped the small Spartans, 31 to 0. With the victory over Gonzales, King City registered its first B-division title since 1948. The resurging Hollister Haybalers salvaged a mediocre season by whipping Gilroy, 31 to 7, to finish one game in front of fourth-place Pacific Grove. Coach Ami Leso's Live Oak Acorns finally tasted the fruits of league victory by edging the hapless San Lorenzo Valley Cougars, 6 to 0.

Pacific Grove gave the Padres a terrific tussle for the first half of last Friday's game, holding a 7-6 bulge late in the second period only to see the Red & Gray capitalize on a penalty break to keep a touchdown drive alive and leave for the intermission with a 13-7 edge. Carmel's diminutive halfback, Steve Fairfield, put the Padres in front early in the game with a slicing drive inside the Grove right tackle spot. The Breakers got on the board midway in the second period when lanky Roger Magyar picked up an errant Padre fumble and rambled 38 yards for the score. A keeper play by quarterback Busico was good for the conversion point and PG enjoyed a 7-6 lead. With seconds remaining in the half, Carmel's go-ahead touchdown materialized on the strength of a Holman-to-Leidig pass and a four-yard burst by fullback George Pollock. Rick Baldwin's conversion was true to the mark and the Padres were ahead to stay.

In the second half, David Terry, Tony Belleci and Rick Baldwin posted touchdowns for the Padres with Bob Roberts and Butch Johnson scored for Coach Charley Howell's gang. The touchdowns by Baldwin and Johnson were the most spectacular of the night as Baldwin romped 45 yards for his six-pointer and Johnson took a Padre kickoff all the way.

Sturdy line play by both teams was evident throughout the game with Carmel's Terry Tweedie, Ray Eaton, Jim Kelley, Bob Albee, Pete Morse and Pete Conway turning in fine performances against the Breakers. For Pacific Grove, it was the quartet of Chamberlain, Lanning, Mason and Burgess which made the going tough for Coach Hadley Hicks' Padres.

Coach Fred Rainer's Padre junior-varsity regained its position as kingpin of the jayvee circuit by clipping Jim LeBec's jayvees, 34 to 6, in a game which was Carmel's all the way. The Padre squad had the Little Breakers outmanned at all positions and moved through the hosts for easy touchdowns. With Al Nishimura and Bob Larson at the controls, the Little Padres put on a powerful running exhibition with backs Ralph Jaurez, Dennis Clark, Don Clark and Larson running for huge chunks of yardage. The nifty passing of Nishimura and Larson riddled the secondary defense of the hard-trying Breaker reserves. Rugged line play by Phil Zobel, Bill Hill, Dave Preve, Claude Dechow, Bob Wells, Tom Poulos and Grant Pollock gave the title-bound Carmel gang control of the battle up front.

HARTNELL-MPC IN TITLE CLASH SATURDAY NIGHT

With a helping hand from Coach Bill Abbey's Foothill Owls who upset Hartnell last Saturday night, the Monterey Peninsula College will have a clean shot at the Coast JC football title this Saturday night when Coach Arvin Smith's Hartnell College Panthers visit the MPC Stadium for an 8 o'clock game. Hartnell's loss to Foothill leaves both teams with 5-1 records and the winner of Saturday night's fracas will pick up all the blue chips for the 1961 season. Besides being champion of the Coast Junior College Conference, the winner will also earn the distinction of playing in the Thanksgiving Day Lettuce Bowl game at Salinas.

Saturday night's championship game will match George Porter's explosive winged-T offense against the hard-nosed split-T attack as taught by Coach Arvin Smith of Hartnell. The Lobos have the swift backs who can go 8 or 80 yards on any play while the Panthers have the reputation of grinding out the yardage in small chunks. Both teams use the pass sparingly and rely on touch blocking and hard running to move the ball.

Several Carmel High grads are slated for action when the firing starts Saturday night. The Hartnell line is anchored on big Norm Colman, an all-league performer while wearing the Padre spangles, who is having a fine season with the Panthers. One of MPC's top linemen is Fred Bucher, a 1960 Carmel High grad, who is a top-flight linebacker and a fine offensive guard. Fred's brother, Frank, is the most dangerous passer on the Lobo squad and is sure to see quarterback duty if the Lobo offense takes to the air. Dave Hansen, ex-Padre fullback, has done an outstanding job in the defensive secondary this season and is one of the best blockers on the Lobo squad.

Saturday night's game with arch-rival Hartnell winds up the league season for the Lobos who go into the game with a 6-2 record and strong hopes for a league championship and an invitation to the First Annual Lettuce Bowl.

CLEAT MARKS

Sportwriters covering the Coast Counties Athletic League activities are happy about the new policy of selecting the All-League teams and with the awards which go to the boys chosen for the mythical teams. Under the new system, each coach will nominate the outstanding players from his squad and the sports writers will tabulate the selections and determine the All-League teams on the basis of the recommendation of the coaches. This method is sure to eliminate the hours of wrangling which usually precede the selection of the All-League teams. In addition to a new method of selection, the newspapers covering CCAL sports will award suitable plaques to the athletes chosen for the All-League teams. Carmel High players who are selected for the mythical squad will receive handsome plaques through the courtesy of the Carmel Pine Cone. The All-League selections will be made Monday, November 27, at Garbini's Restaurant in Santa Cruz.

In one of the most impressive halftime ceremonies ever presented at a CCAL football game, the Watsonville High football field was named Emmett Geiser Field last Friday night during the Monterey-Watsonville championship game. Geiser, for 32 years an outstanding coach at Watsonville High, had no previous knowledge of the impending ceremony and his state of shock left him practically speechless. However, the builder of champions for the Wildcats recovered in time to correct the MC who short-changed him one year on his coaching career. Only blot on the touching ceremony was the outcome of the game — Monterey clipped the listening in on the discussion, said nonsense, that none of the Kinsolvings would say a word. They're all born with a cleft pulpit."

Mr. Kinsolving says he has been undergoing this kind of talk most of his life and has become rather used to being a conversation piece.

And when his friends run out of repartee on the clerical character of his family, there's still room for more talk of his southern antecedents, particularly in these days of the Civil War Centennial.

There have been Kinsolvings in Virginia, it seems, since the late 1600's.

And Charlie was born on Robert E. Lee's birthday, which once led a secretary at Newsweek to versify: "On the 19th of January some years ago, three boys made their debut, Lee, Kinsolving and Poe." (Tennyson was born that day, too, but that has nothing to do with this story.)

Naturally, Charles Kinsolving has a respectably sized mental file of Civil War stories, most of them, he admits, apocryphal.

"A great many people have wondered why Grant did not accept Lee's sword. I have a version of the reason, Bruce Catton (writer and authority on the Civil War) told me this story was the biggest lie he ever heard. But here it is.

"As Lee rode up to Appomattox, there was a little fellow in a private's uniform sitting outside the door. Lee, whose sword had been a gift from the ladies of Richmond, asked the private to polish it so it would look its best out of respect to the ladies and the South, even in defeat.

"Later Lee went inside to face Grant, who as everyone knows, had dressed only in a private's tunic with his boots not polished, while Lee was in full uniform. When Lee said, 'Will you accept my sword?' Grant said, 'No, I put so much spit and polish on it today that I think it looks better where it is.'

"I got this story from a Georgia admiral who was named Custer but was not a relative of General Custer," Kinsolving says. "If it isn't true, it should be."

Asked if he were related to the Lees, he said, "Yes. I believe some of my forebears built Stratford, the old Virginia home where Richard Henry Lee and Francis Lightfoot Lee, signers of the Declaration of Independence, were born. And later Light Horse Harry Lee, cavalry commander under General Washington, and his son, General Lee, were born there too.

"The Kinsolvings were always horny-handed sons of the soil back in plantation days, but somehow they seemed able to out-marry themselves. About five generations ago a Kinsolving married into the Lee family. Ever since the name Lee has appeared as the middle name of one of us in every generation. However, I was passed over. My doting, misguided parents must have thought I was so nearly perfect I didn't need it.

Charles McIlvaine Kinsolving was born in Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, in 1893. He studied at Episcopal High School in Alexandria, Virginia, and studied law at the University of Virginia. After his studies, he returned to Brazil, where he organized the American Chamber of Commerce in Sao Paulo in 1920 and became special correspondent for the United Press the next year. He managed the UP Brazilian Bureau from 1922 to 1924, and a friend once wrote of him, "In some revolutions where he could just as well have assigned another man, he covered the shooting himself, just for the hell of it."

For the promotion of Brazil's Centennial of Independence in 1922, he received the medal of the Brazilian Centennial Commission. During World War I, he served with the American Ambulance Field Service in 1916 and '17, and later with the French Flying Corps (the LaFayette Corps), becoming commanding officer of the 163rd Aero Squadron, Air Service, AEF, in 1918-19. He holds the French Croix de Guerre.

In the mid-Twenties and Thirties, Kinsolving entered the business world in the States, working in publicity and investment banking, becoming editor of Executive News Service and a member of the editorial staff of Publication Corporation. He was with Newsweek for 17 years, directing financial and travel accounts for domestic and international editions of the magazine.

The same writing friend described him as "a priceless character who has had an exciting career."

During his Latin American years, he says, he was occasionally called upon to sneak stories out of the country in code, "using the usual Richard Harding Davis variety of subterfuge." Once he was arrested and spent two days in jail while American Embassy officials figured various means to get him released. When all else had failed, the Embassy men appealed to the romantic temperament of the revolutionaries by telling them solemnly, "Our wives have told us we can't come home until this man is released. Keep him and you have broken up our marriages."

After deliberating, the Latins decided, "That changes the picture." Kinsolving was released.

He and Mrs. Kinsolving met in France during World War I, became engaged in New York City, and were married in Rio de Janeiro, spreading the romance over three continents. "Since we returned to Brazil, my father married us and saved me the minister's fee." It was one time his being closely associated with the clergy stood him in good stead.

The Kinsolvings' sons are Lucien Lee Kinsolving, who is consul general to Jerusalem on the Jordanian side, and Charles M. Kinsolving Jr., a consultant for the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Being a clergyman's son, Kinsolving believes, has been more help than hindrance, especially in the matter of a classical education.

"People who have worked for me," he says, "have always been required to know two references well. The Bible and Shakespeare. Anyone else they want to take their knowledge from is then acceptable.

"The Bible is the basis for many things we don't suspect. Saturday Evening Post fiction, for instance, is perhaps based on the Book of Esther. Its stories consistently tell of a rich man who marries a poor orphan girl. The girl turns out to be not only beautiful but smart and the villain always hangs higher than Haman in the end."

Mr. and Mrs. Kinsolving live in the former Barbara Tripp house in Hatton Fields Mesa. He is historian of the Old Capitol Club in Monterey, a trustee for the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies and has recently been elected a Red Cross director.

"The Peninsula is a matriarchy to those of us who are retired," he said. "Till we came here our wives expected us to make a living. Now they have us cornered, with no office to escape to. I've lived on the sidewalks of New York for 35 years but now I'm suddenly expected to become a horticulturist. As a gardener I'm just like King Midas, everything I touch dies immediately."

Mr. Kinsolving, who sprinkles his conversation not only with anecdotes but with quotations, has about as many which are from neither Shakespeare nor the Bible as he has those which are.

One of his favorites, he says, is from the writings of E. B. White who once said, "Every writer slants his stories the way he leans. No man is born perpendicular. But some of us are born upright."

Wildcats, 45 to 0.

The coaching job turned in by the Monterey High staff this season has to be the best in Californa with the Toreadores going through the season with all four teams undefeated. Not only have Coach Dan Albert and his capable staff taught winning football, they have well-disciplined teams playing the game with high standards of sportsmanship and healthy respect for their opponents. Off its performance against Watsonville, it is likely the Monterey varsity will be named the Northern California Team Of The Year.

Coach George Porter's Monterey Peninsula College eleven cut it pretty fine against the Menlo College Oaks in last Friday's league game at Menlo, but the unpredictable Lobos pulled it out of the fire in the last quarter to post a 36-26 decision over Coach Bo Molenda's gang. The Lobos broke into a 16-0 lead in the first quarter and took a rest until Menlo was in front, 26-16. With Dick Austin, Jerry Colletto, Jerry Hatcher and Jim Dotson carrying the mail, the Lobos drove for three touchdowns in the final quarter to make possible their championship game with Hartnell this Saturday night. With Hartnell getting upset by Foothill, a win for the Lobos will give them clear title to the Coast Junior College flag.

Citizens Committee Adds Proposals To Coast Highway Plans

ry Osgood Kester), a former Carmelite who is now an attorney in San Francisco, read the proposals prepared and submitted by the citizens committee, which was formed on September 29 of this year. Mrs. Kester is legal counsel for the committee.

The list of proposals was formulated after the planning commission instructed opponents of the Owings plan who appeared at the September 12 hearing to set down their own ideas for submission to the commission. The citizens' committee is a result of this action.

The committee, which claims to represent "more than 400 residents and landowners in the coastal area from Malpaso Creek to the San Luis Obispo County line," told the commission in its report Tuesday that it had "sent land use questionnaires to the 948 taxpayers of record" in the area under discussion and had received answers from over 160 of them by November 10, with more answers still to come.

"We believe our recommendations reflect the real grass-roots feeling in the area," Mrs. Kester told the Pine Cone yesterday. "I think this should be apparent to anyone who attended the hearing. However, this report is not a 'plan.' The only plans under consideration are the Owings Plan and the Campbell Plan. Ours is merely a list of proposals which we feel should be included in any plan adopted by the county."

Among other things, the committee is opposed to tract-type development, Mrs. Kester said.

On the list of committee proposals are also:

A minimum limitation of one homesite for two acres between Highway One and the ocean, and between the highway and the eastern boundary of the master plan (either the edge of Los Padres National Forest or the crest of the Santa Lucia range) a minimum of one-acre homesites, with the two-acre limit to apply in the vicinity of Big Sur, both east and west of the highway to a depth of 400 feet.

Preservation of Highway One as a scenic route.

Aesthetic controls including prohibition of billboards, set-back and building height controls.

Limitation of Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park to the area it now occupies with no extension.

A strict policy of choice by individual merit in selection of commercial establishments for the area.

Protection of present landowners by imposition of a low agricultural tax for ranchers, and assurance to present owners of small parcels who cannot meet the standards outlined by the committee of exemption from the restrictions.

The committee also asks the amending and making permanent of the interm zoning ordinance now in effect.

The Owings Master Plan, which was reviewed at the hearing by Mr. Roosevelt, asks for preservation of open space via a different type of density control. No lot sizes are fixed under this plan, but to keep buildings between highway and ocean sparse, a landowner would be allowed, for every ten acres he dedicates as permanent open space in this lower area, an extra permit to build a homesite in the higher, mountain area, away from the road. The extra credit for a homesite would be in addition to the regular allotment of one homesite per 20 acres.

The state park, under the Owings Plan, would be enlarged in preference to establishing new, smaller parks and Highway One would be designated a scenic route.

Mr. Campbell, who is also a planning consultant, recapitulated for the commission details of his plan which was submitted as early as last year. In essence, it calls for flexible building-site sizes, the site area to be determined by the character of the land in each development area; open space separating development areas; a high standard for commercial and service enterprises, and public service facilities provided on private holdings in the national forest where reasonable and necessary; limitation of lot sizes to two acres per family where natural features and the desires of the owners are favorable to such a limitation; full legal status for existing subdivisions and commercial developments.

The Campbell Plan also proposes four land-use designations, light agricultural, open or recreation space, low density residential and service-commercial.

The appearance of Mrs. Kester before the commission marked her return to the area where she grew up. Born in Los Angeles, she moved to Carmel in 1932 with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Osgood Pattullo.

She attended Sunset School, Forest Hill School and Carmel High School, then went east to Smith College. After studying her junior year abroad, at the University of Geneva, she returned to Smith for a degree in 1951. She graduated from Stanford Law School in 1954 and served several years with the U.S. Navy in Naval Security in Washington, D.C., acting as defense counsel for courts martial and as legal assistance officer. Though she finished her tour of duty in 1958, she is still a reserve officer.

Her marriage to Robert Hayes Kester took place in London in 1959. He is an advisory engineer-scientific with IBM in Oakland. The Kesters make their home in San Francisco.

Carmel High Employe Arraigned Yesterday On Abortion Charge

reduced to one of outraging public decency, a misdemeanor.

According to Assistant Superintendent of Carmel Schools Wayne Greenfield, Mrs. Daniels was hired in 1959 on a part-time basis at the school and worked in the boiler room washing towels and in the girls' gym cleaning up after the classes had left.

No information on her earlier misdemeanor charge came to the attention of school officials, Greenfield said, because fingerprints are made only of full-time employes. Mrs. Daniels was later employed full time, but the prints were never taken nor checked with law authorities.

"Her actions were exemplary and she was well liked at the school," Greenfield said.

Free today on $1,575 bail, Mrs. Daniels is to appear at a preliminary hearing set for November 30 at 9:30 o'clock in the morning in Monterey Municipal Court. Arrested in connection with the same case was a Monterey man, Roosevelt DuBard, 41, who was charged with abortion and conspiracy to commit abortion.

Milton Costalis

Milton S. Costalis, a member of the staff of La Playa Hotel for the past eight months, died unexpectedly last Thursday night or early Friday in his apartment in the hotel's annex. He was 57.

Mr. Costalis, who suffered from a heart ailment, was found dead by fellow employes early Friday morning. A hotel worker in San Francisco before coming to the Peninsula, he served as wine steward and room service attendant at La Playa.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Paul Mortuary in Pacific Grove.

Epicurean Fare At Candide's Includes Philosophy, Music

Carmel has a new continental type restaurant, Candide's, on San Carlos Street below Ocean Avenue.

R. R. Reese, designer and manager of the casual eating place, features old world epicurean delights and dedicates this fare to the unprejudiced palate of connoisseurs and bon vivants.

Fettucine al Romano, scalopine al Marsala, minestrone a la Milanese are Italian items served, also Viennese scholom. Kosher delicatessen brunch offerings are dose piroshki, corn beef pastrami knackwurst, chicken livers and lox on a bagel with cream cheese. Home made apple strudel is also on the menu.

Fine music is played at Candide's and classic literature is provided for patrons to read at tables. Patron participation in stimulating conversation is encouraged. Philosophers are welcome.

"Bien Venue Villageois" is Mr. Reese's greeting to Carmelites. He invites all residents "to make Candide's your den, refuge and meeting place. Relax, read, converse with friends."

One of Italy's most brilliant violinists, Franco Gulli, above, will play here as guest artist tomorrow evening when the Carmel Music Society presents the Orchestra San Pietro of Naples in a concert at Sunset Auditorium, 8:30 o'clock.

Renato Ruotolo, founder and director of the chamber orchestra of virtuosi proportions, is also a highly accomplished violinist and played with the Scarlatti Orchestra and Virtuosi de Roma, the latter from its inception.

The Orchestra San Pietro was a success from the time of its organization. It first gave concerts in its home city, Naples. Critics hailed it as a major adition to the musical life of the city and praised its beauty of tone, superb expression and perfect sense of ensemble playing.

Trustees Act On Various Matters At Last Meeting

Completing items on their agenda of November 8, in the music room of Carmel High School, trustees of the Carmel Unified School District:

Heard a monthly finance report from Assistant Superintendent Wayne Greenfield which showed, as of October 31, a $1,563,950 budget with $1,147,275.49 encumbered, $308,970.30 expended and a $107,704.21 balance.

Approved the appointment by Board President Dr. Grant Fletcher of Mrs. Blanks to the Monterey County School District Organization Committee, next meeting of which is on November 27. She will serve only when the group considers problems affecting the Carmel district.

Adopted a resolution of acceptance of a tank site easement for the district on property owned by the Mathiot family in the Tularcitos area.

Awarded a contract for resurfacing the high school tennis courts to Michael Appleton Construction Company after receiving the firm's low bid of $1,988.16.

Changed two bus stop locations in the Carmel Valley area, eliminating Canada Way and Berwick Road and replacing the intersections of Canada Way and the Valley Road and Brookdale Drive and the Valley Road, after residents in the former stop areas protested that the group of some 20 students waiting for the bus had broken shrubbery, damaged outside light fixtures, run over lawns, stood on a front porch to get out of the rain and sat in a planter.

Granted Superintendent Stuart Mitchell permission to attend the American Association of School Administrators biennial convention in Atlantic City in February.

Granted an acceleration request to allow honor student Sharyn Hibbe to graduate in June, 1962, ahead of the usual schedule.

Private funeral services were held on Monday afternoon for Mrs. May Neiman Wallace, who died Saturday morning at her home, Hatton Road and Ocean Avenue. She was 87 years old, and a resident of Carmel for the past year and a half.

Mrs. Wallace was born May 20, 1874, in Pottstown, Pennsylvania, and had made her home in Berkeley before moving to Carmel. A member of the Mother Church, Christ Scientist, of Boston, she was also a charter member of the Women's Civic Club and a member of the Hillside Club, both in Berkeley.

She made her home here with a daughter, Leontine E. Wallace. Survivors also include another daughter, Mrs. Dorothy W. Sloan of Berkeley; a sister, Mrs. Howard Jones of Saratoga; and a grandson, Robert Wallace Blake of Brooklyn, New York.

Inurnment was to follow later at Mountain View Cemetery Columbarium, with Paul Mortuary in charge of local arrangements.

Barefoot Adventure, Color Surfing Film To Be Shown Nov. 24

A feature-length color film on surfing, Barefoot Adventure, made by surfing photographer Bruce Brown, will be shown at Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium on November 24, 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

The art of riding ocean waves on a surfboard on beaches in Hawaii and California is depicted in the film with original sound track by Bud Shank, jazz musician. Those who play Shank's music with him are Bob Cooper, Carmell Jones, Dennis Budidmir, Gary Peacock and Shelly Manne.

Barefoot Adventure is the story of young surfers and their quest for adventure. It includes toe wrestling shots and sequences of surfers riding dramatic Hawaiian waves as high as three-story buildings.

Now Jimmy knows why it's our family bank!

"It was a banner day when our son opened a savings account with money he had earned. And our Wells Fargo American Trust manager made it a really big occasion. He presented Jimmy with a passbook and welcomed him as a customer. We could see our boy felt he had a new friend as well as a new account.

"Every child should learn the value of money, and we know our friends at the bank will help Jimmy just as they've always helped us. That's why our savings and checking accounts, our safe deposit box, our home loan are all at Wells Fargo American Trust—our 'family' bank."

Munras Museum, Gift Of Lady Field, Dedicated At Mission

The Munras Memorial Museum, built in the quadrangle of Carmel Mission Basilica more than two years ago and in the planning stages for some time before that, was dedicated recently following a Mass celebrated by the Most Reverend Bishop Harry Clinch.

The museum is the gift of Lady Maria Antonia Field of Carmel in memory of her great-grandfather, Don Esteban Munras, one of the early California Spanish grandees who by means of grants from Spain became a large landowner in Monterey County. He was born in 1789 in Barcelona, Spain. In 1824, he built La Granja, a spacious adobe home in Monterey subsequently the birthplace of Lady Field. Twenty years ago, because of encroaching business development, La Granja was sold and is now Casa Munras Hotel.

The Munras Memorial Museum contains a chair of Dr. Manuel Quixano, seventh and last surgeon at the Royal Presidio of Monterey. In 1824, he performed the first autopsy in California on the body of Padre Andreas Quintana, martyred by Indians, at Mission Santa Cruz. Dr. Quixano was the stepfather of Dona Catalina Manzaneli y Ponce de Leon de Munras, great-grandmother of Lady Field. The museum also contains historic hammered silver spoons, manuscripts, needlework and furniture which belonged to her ancestors, members of the Ponce de Leon and Davalos families.

Among Lady Field's other gifts is Villa Angelica at the mouth of San Jose Creek which she gave to the Sisters of Notre Dame as a summer home and where the Altar Society of Carmel Mission Basilica meets.

In 1890, then a child, Lady Field and her brother, the late Esteban Field, unveiled the statue of Fray Junipero Serra, founder of the California Missions, which stands on the hill below the Presidio of Monterey. The statue was the gift of Mrs. Leland Stanford, who with her husband, Senator Stanford, founded Stanford University.

Following the dedication of the Munras Memorial Museum, Lady Field was hostess at a dinner at Casa Munras. Her guests included Bishop Clinch, the Right Reverend Monsignor John Ryan, the Reverend Laurence Farrell, the Reverend Roger Dieudonne, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Downie, Colonel and Mrs. Shelburn Robison, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Work Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKever Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dougherty, Dr. and Mrs. Clayton Mote of San Francisco, Mrs. Nora Walker, Mrs. Maria Antonia Thompson, Mrs. Esteban J. Field, Mrs. Joseph Ansel, Miss Marie T. Smith, Miss Margaret Jacks and Miss Louise Sistrom.

Phono-Visual Reading Demonstration Here Tomorrow Afternoon

The phono-visual reading method, used successfully at the Primary Day School in Bethesda, Maryland, since 1944, will be demonstrated tomorrow afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in Sunset School cafeteria. The meeting is open to the public.

Demonstrator of the system which, its advocates say, enables a beginning reader to read and spell up to 500 words without study, will be Mrs. Edna B. Crilley of the Extension Service of the Bethesda school.

Mrs. Crilley was to present the same demonstration this afternoon for Monterey schools in the Del Monte School Auditorium at 3:45 o'clock.

WHAT'S DOING

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

Those tents you occasionally see on telephone lines may have set you wondering what sort of mysterious operation was going on inside. Actually, it's no mystery. The tents are simply protection against rain, wind, or hot sun for phone men splicing cables together.

It's one "undercover job" that helps assure the dependability of your phone service, since tents like this allow us to make cable repairs in just about any kind of weather.

Do you know how the telephone company helps bring you network TV?

From a studio, a network television program is sent first to a telephone company TV control center like the one shown at right. From here, the television picture speeds along a network of special telephone circuits to stations in other cities for broadcasting to homes. At check points across the land, the program is carefully watched on monitoring screens. Highly trained telephone men check constantly so you'll get the best possible picture on your television set.

In this way telephone people help bring you television from the entertainment capitals of the nation.

Remember the first portable radios? They were giants compared to the tiny pocket-size models so commonplace today. The invention of the transistor by the Bell Telephone Laboratories helped make smaller radios possible.

That was in 1948. Today, transistors are used throughout the telephone industry and in everything from hearing aids to satellites.

Conference Speakers Stress Value Of Open Space Area In Subdivisions, Scenic Easements, Flexible Zoning

Area planning conference speakers, Saturday, stressed need for planned open space in subdivisions, scenic easements along rural roads, cluster development and flexible zoning. They also directed the attention of the over 100 persons at the conference towards the desirability of community, state and federal support for open space programs.

The all-day meeting on the importance of open space to this area was sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Area Planning Commission and the group's Citizens' Core Committee and was held in the Officers' Club at the Presidio of Monterey.

Plans for preservation of open space along the Coast Road below Carmel and High Meadows subdivision, planned for an area northeast of Carmel, were praised.

William Whyte, conservationist, editor of Fortune magazine and author of The Organizational Man, stated that the best open space programs were not straight park acquisition," because state parks are where people aren't." Open space should be acquired equally by a state park system and communities with imagination, he said.

Tax legislation to take pressure off farmers in order that they will not sell their land for subdivision development is imperative, Mr. Whyte indicated.

The postwar subdivision, he continued, was 20-30 per cent asphalt. In order to substitute more desirable open space than roadways in such developments he favored cluster development. High Meadows sub-division is a "stimulating" instance of this type of development, he declared, and added that "the public has to understand flexible zoning" which permits luster-type development and allows subdividers to put houses closer together, deed 40-60 percent of their land for open space.

Easements along roads should be acquired as open space by local governments and state programs, Mr. Whyte advocated. Local governments' increased attention to easements and conservation of open space on private property dovetails public interest with private ownership, he pointed out.

State programs are needed for voters to approve bond issues to purchase rural road easements, preserve scenic beauty and provide grants to local governments for open space preservation are gaining approval, he pointed out.

Lastly, Mr. Whyte said, the Monterey Peninsula is eligible for federal housing act grants given to areas with outstanding open space planning programs.

"The door is open. It's up to you", Mr. Whyte told the citizens at the conference.

Dee Eberhardt, Seattle economist, stressed the economic value of open space to subdividers. Studies conducted by his firm proved conclusively that lots fronting on open space had a higher value than similar lots not facing open areas.

However, Mr. Eberhardt emphasized that the small subdivider cannot afford to deed 40-50 percent of his property for open space. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the community to equitably determine what is uniformly desirable for open space acquisition and reduce development cost. He, also, advocated cluster-type development. "It makes economic sense," he advised.

Two types of open area in which the community should interest itself are agricultural and hillside areas, Mr. Eberhardt said. The retention of agricultural land is of "overwhelming value to a community Hillside open areas, of which the Monterey Peninsula has many, should be preserved," he advised.

This community must direct how this is to take place: whether trees are to go or stay; whether weakening desire will allow monetary interests to prevail.

"There is no alternative but to accept the fact that people are coming here and must be accommodated. Plan to preserve this area for you and your children," he stated.

Planning and city officials often err in thinking the developer is a "bad guy," Mr. Eberhardt continued, and added that it is better for the community to allow and encourage developers of new schemes and approaches, Rezoning for such developers should be allowed. Community reluctance prevents this often, he concluded.

Simon Eisner, planning consultant to the area planning commission, emphasized that the role of citizens' committees is to fight for the preservation of quality, counteract aggression, face legislators on a continuing basis, not allow land to be rezoned for higher density use, attend meetings, direct growth and safeguard the community for generations to come.

"An open space policy is of value to a community," he added, and advocated the advantages of cluster development.

During luncheon, State Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel) told the group he hoped a 175 million dollar bond issue to acquire parks and recreational areas will be placed on the 1962 state ballot by Governor Brown. The bill would provide more hunting and fishing areas, also small craft harbors. Scenic easements along state rural roads, he hoped, some day will be acquired by gas tax funds.

An open space measure on the 1962 election ballot will propose tax adjustments for owners of orchard and farm land, provided the land is kept in these uses only, Senator Farr said.

Senator Farr also advocated more roadside rests and no billboards along scenic highways.

Following round table discussions in separate groups, citizens attending the conference agreed the key to preserving the character of the Monterey Peninsula is preservation of open space. It keeps intact the individuality of the separate communities; attracts cultural institutions and events; gives residents a sense of living close to nature.

More trees should be planted, they decided; banks of the Carmel River should be kept as open space.

The reports of each group were summarized by Carmel's city clerk, Larry Rose.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE THANKSGIVING DAY

Gratitude for God's great goodness and power is the theme of the special Thanksgiving Day service to be held in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monte Verde Street near Sixth Avenue at 11:00 o'clock.

Spontaneous testimonies of gratitude by church members for blessings which a spiritual understanding of God and man have brought into their experience during the year will be a feature of the service. There will be no collection. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

A brief Lesson-Sermon on the subject of Thanksgiving will emphasize the importance of Living one's gratitude to God. The scriptural reading includes this verse from II Corinthians:

". . . God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work: . . ."

A correlative citation from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states (p.3) "Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

The President's Thanksgiving Proclamation will be read as part of the service.

Original El Camino Bells Sought By Restoration Group

Bells, placed in 1906 along historic El Camino Real from San Diego to San Francisco, are being sought by the Committee for El Camino Real. They are needed to help restore the original atmosphere of Highway 101.

Organizations represented on the El Camino Real Committee are the California Mission Trails Association, Native Daughters of the Golden West, Native Sons of the Golden West, California Historical Society, the Franciscan Order of Oakland, Daughters of the American Revolution and local historical societies in California.

Aim of the committee is to recover at least 100 of the 450 bells which have disappeared over the past 55 years. Many are known still to be in existence in private hands. Donations of these bells by present owners will be greatly appreciated by the committee and official recognition will be given donors. Each original cast iron bell is inscribed El Camino Real—A.S.C. Forbes—1769-1906. A brass plate gives the name of the donor on most of the same bells.

When recovered, The California Highway Department promises to weld the bells to posts as markers along Highway 101.

Any person wishing to donate a bell or who knows the location of one which may be recovered is asked to write the Committee for El Camino Real, 25 West Anapamu Street, Santa Barbara.

Small Merchants Send Protest To Senator Sparkman

Twelve Carmel merchants and businessmen were among 29 persons on the Peninsula and in Salinas who, last Thursday, sent a wire to Senator John Sparkman, chairman of the small business committee of the United States Senate.

According to Gunnar Norberg, initiator of the wire, a report in the September 25 issue of a national business magazine spurred the group into action. The article "shed no tear" for individual enterprise, he emphasized.

Following is the text of the wire:

Senator John Sparkman
Chairman
Small Business Committee
United States Senate
Washington, D.C.

"The special report on retailing in the September 25 issue of the magazine United States News shows no slightest concern about dwindling individual enterprise and no slightest worry about wildly growing corporate enterprise. If American free enterprise, and even great America itself, is long to survive, there must be continuing room for individual enterpreneurs by the millions, and certainly there should be such continuing room in the field of retailing—in fact, in practically the whole system for the distribution of goods and for the performance of any services. This is a specific economic area which could only be enhanced by individual or family enterprise and to the greatest benefit of the customer. To guarantee the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity as our great Constitution provides, and acting under that Constitution's commerce clause, we urgently request that you initiate legislation to lift the lead-like weight of huge and mushrooming corporations from the long-suffering shoulders of the main streets of America."

Signers of the wire were Gunnar Norberg, Vernon Hurd, William A. Burkett, Walter J. Beck, Beauford T. Anderson, Frank Putnam, Mark Raggett, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Dyke, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Coyle, Corum B. Jackson, Charles L. M. Frost, Richard Hopelain, C. Mark Thomas, Harold and Walter Nielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ragsdale, Gladys McCloud, James M. Rowe, George J. Fortier, Leonard Abinante, William T. Adams, Barbara Norberg, Les Laky, James Burgess, Dale Leidig, Maurice Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bergquist, George Sargenti, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Siever, Bill Packwood and Evelyn Cunha. Each was identified as to the type of business they own, either outright or in partnership, or by the office they hold in a corporation, except for three.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The availability here and now of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be stressed at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Luke's account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the "woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself" is included in the Scriptural readings. "Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read: "God will heal the sick through man, whenever man is governed by God. Truth casts out error now as surely as it did nineteen centuries ago. All of Truth is not understood; hence its healing power is not fully demonstrated" (p.495).

The Golden Text is from Psalm 90: "Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations . . . Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and they glory unto their children."

McCreerys Back From Oahu

Returning over the weekend from a trip to Oahu were Mr. and Mrs. P. A. McCreery of Carmel. They left town on November 5 and flew back on Saturday.

While in the Islands they visited the family of son Lew's sister-in-law, Captain and Mrs. Roger Foster and children, Tommy, David and Ann. He is with the Marine Air Corps and she is the former Kathleen Whittaker of Carmel.

The McCreerys, who have been hearing good things about Hawaii ever since their son graduated from the University of Hawaii, say this was their first trip. "If Carmel had water that warm around the coast, we'd have 50 million people here," Mr. McCreery said.

Ladybug Party For 'Bo'

Like a visitation of locusts, but far more welcome, a swarming cloud of "boy bugs" and "lady bugs" descended on the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Bell a few blocks from River School Monday afternoon.

The occasion was the sixth birthday of one of the "bugs," Sarah (Bo) Bell, a student in the afternoon session of Mrs. Sarah Harkins's kindergarten class.

Amid the flapping of spotted wings and waving of antennae, birthday cake was served along with bug-shaped ice cream and bug juice. Decorations included red balloons with black spots to match the wings of the guests. The ice cream had licorice antennae.

Official host was Bo's big brother Robin, eight, and his assistant was small brother Chip, two. Documenting the events of the day was the father of the honoree, who had been named official photographer.

Adult guests included Mrs. Russell Williams, mother of one of the "bug" guests, and Mrs. Harkins. The bugs wound up the afternoon with a peanut hunt, and Bo said goodbye after opening a table full of much-admired presents. Then the photographer turned into the chauffeur and delivered the bugs to their own nests.

Donations For AFA

Now that the American Federation of Arts, Monterey Peninsula Chapter, is established in headquarters on Lincoln Street, south of Ocean Avenue (the former Feingarten Galleries), members are seeking sponsors for needed furniture and equipment.

According to an announcement today from Helen Denecke, chairman of a committee to acquire the furnishings, anyone can sponsor any item already purchased or still needed by getting in touch with her or chapter headquarters.

Plaques of recognition will be placed on sponsored articles. Costs range from $10 for an easel and $75 for a desk to $230 for a new duplicating machine. The AFA is seeking the donors so that purchase of equipment will not diminish funds needed for chapter activities.

Another Approach To Religion

Where is there a religion that honestly encourages the fullest possible use of reason?

There is beauty and truth in many of the world's religious faiths. Is there a church anywhere that does not claim to have all the answers?

I cannot accept religious beliefs just on faith. Is there a church for me?

Can persons from any religious background — Christian, Jewish, Buddhist, Moslem, etc. find one church where all are welcomed without "conversion" or "renunciation?"

If you find something of your own thought, experience, and searching in these questions, you are invited to share your ideas with us—the Unitarian Church of the Monterey Peninsula. We meet at 11:00 a.m. every Sunday at the Monterey Peninsula USO Bldg., Monterey, near El Estero Park. Literature about Unitarianism may be procured by writing P. O. Box 251, Pacific Grove, Calif.

Record Handling Turnout

Some 50 dogs, a record number, turned out for the first handling class sponsored by Del Monte Kennel Club Sunday at Carmel High School. The class, one of three scheduled Sunday classes, is in preparation for the club's puppy match December 3 at the Monterey County fairgrounds. Judging will begin at noon on the day of the match, with registrations taken between 9:00 and 11:00 o'clock in the morning.

Special feature of this Sunday at the high school campus will be a handling class for children beginning at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon following the regular class at 2:00 o'clock. There is no age limit on the children "just so they are big enough to handle the dogs," club officials said.

Eligible for the show are all pure bred dogs between the ages of three and 12 months. Additional information is available from Mrs. Carl Barron, MA 4-1790.

Nathaniel Meyer Born

A telephone call from his wife, Abbie Lou, informed Laidlaw Williams Tuesday that he had a second grandchild born that day in Annapolis, Maryland. The baby's parents, Alice and Harvey Meyer, have named their son Nathaniel. He weighed eight pounds, three ounces at birth.

Nathaniel has an older sister, Cynthia, almost two years old.

Puerto Rico, U. S. A., with Fran William Hall, above, as lecturer, is the second in the current Wildlife Lecture series sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society and the Carmel Adult School. This film will be shown Tuesday, 8:00 o'clock in the evening, at Sunset Auditorium.

The first natural history color film ever made about the great Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, this Audubon Screen Tour by Fran William Hall is a spectacular tour of the "land of perpetual spring."

Fran Hall's artistic cine-record of Puerto Rico clearly reveals natural fruitfulness in the warm, bright regions of the tropics. Not only is his documentary a tribute to the great Commonwealth, it provides opportunity for Americans the continent over to learn more about a very special and important part of the U.S.A.

Mr. Hall of Northfield, Minnesota, is a master of nature photography. His lifelong interest in natural history has been combined, since 1935, with the pursuit of photography as an art and as a science. After several years of technical work with the Air Force in the field of electronic engineering, he headed the Department of Photography at Carleton College. His lecturing under the auspices of the National Audubon Society has taken him to every state in the Union and most of the provinces of Canada.

To Be Wedding Attendants

Sole attendant for her sister at a November 25 wedding in Carmel Mission Basilica will be Karen Reid, maid of honor when Marilyn Reid becomes the bride of Christopher Anthony Stokeld. Marilyn and Karen are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Reid of Carmel.

Coming here from his home in Portland, Oregon, to serve as best man will be Frederick Stokeld, brother of the benedict. The bride's brother, Kirk Dennis Reid, will come from his home at Marysville to serve as usher.

Following the Thanksgiving weekend nuptials, the bridal pair plan to return to San Francisco where both are employed and where they will establish a home on Washington Street.

REGRET A BARREN LEGACY!

The worth of the chain was not perceived
Until the delicate threads had frayed;
The song so muted, the joy conveyed never assessed till the voice was stayed.

—MABEL M. HEINSON

TRAITOR

Cast in steel, the winter sun
Yields no warmth to earth below,
Barren but for where the one
Rustling cornstalk stands in snow,
Relic left from summer days
When the sun appeared a friend;
Then its warm relaxing rays
Gave no hint of summer's end.

—JOYCE W. WEBB

NO SWELLING FADING RHYTHMS AS WITH MOTORED PLANES

Tumultuous clamor crashes structure of sky,
Thundering speed
Splintering earth air into fractions,
Then upward.

Buoyant above dying dissonance,
The jets soar,
Playing a game with clouds
In space motion.

Diving, they hurtle the fence
And stop reluctantly
As if they could have climbed forever
Higher and higher.

—LOUISE BUDDE DELAURENTIS

RIVER FLOWING

Remember the river, the lights
On water, under dim skies
River reeds stiff by the banks,

As we sped through the dusk on the highway
Asphalt a ribbon in darkness
Poplars in plumes by the road?

I thought of a stygian river
I could hear the splash of water
As of oars dipped into the shallows,

Again the sound of waters
Rose above wind in the treetops
As the car sped fast through time—

And you beyond time and darkness
Stood by what dim embankment
Where time is not, nor space,

By a path beyond the evening
By waters where river reeds
Silver eternal shores . . .

—ANTONIA Y. SCHWAB

Mrs. Robert (Bernice) Little, Grand Adah, left; George Bloomer, incoming worthy patron, and Mrs. Shirley Lewis, incoming worthy matron, were principals in impressive installation rites of Carmel Chapter No. 581, Order of Eastern Star, last Wednesday night in the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Little, recently appointed to her state office, was on the team of installing officers. Serving with her were Grace Fontes, retiring worthy matron; Norman Winslow, retiring worthy patron, Hazael Marsh Piper, past Grand Matron; Sally Wright, installing organist; Dorothea Roberts, ininstalling chaplain; Dorothy Ashley, installing marshal; James Alcorn, flag bearer; Elaine Bellina, soloist, and Helen Atherton, accompanist.

For her installation as worthy matron Mrs. Lewis carried a fan fashioned of orchids. Other new officers had carrying pieces of pink hearts made of tulle with pink camillias. These and the room decorations carried out the colors of the new worthy matron, rosecerise and camellia pink with accent of ice blue.

Installed with Mrs. Lewis were, in addition to Mr. Bloomer, Helen Durel, associate matron; Thomas Byers, associate patron; Clara Winslow, secretary; Bessie Westover, treasurer; Mary Purrington, conductress; Violet Tekawa, associate conductress; Burleigh Zak, chaplain; Grace Fontes, marshal; Grace Dixon, organist; Joann Craven, Adah; Virginia Perkins, Ruth; Bonnie Byers, Esther; Dorothea Roberts, Martha; Nora Flatley, Electa; Paul Tekawa, warder; James Alcorn, sentinel; Mr. Winslow, flag bearer; and Flo Holm, prompter. Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKinstry were host and hostess.

Receiving were Elsie White, Helen Leighty and Marianann Scheffer. Ushers were William Bjornvold and Mr. Fontes. Co-chairmen of the installation program were Mrs. Little and Dorothy Ashley. Reene Coleman was in charge of the guest book and Dorothea Roberts of the program.

Attend Nixon Dinner

A delegation from the Carmel Republican Women's Club attended the $100-a-plate dinner in San Francisco Monday night, honoring former Vice President Richard Nixon.

Winner of the club's drawing for a free ticket to the event was Mrs. Gladys Johnston, who attended along with Mrs. E. J. Murray, Mrs. Rodie Holt of Carmel Valley, Mrs. D. F. Reichard, Mrs. John Geisen Sr., formerly of Carmel and now of San Francisco, and Mrs. H. C. Schroeder, former Carmelite now living in Salinas. With Mrs. Reichard were her son and daughter-in-law of Corte Madera, Mr. and Mrs. Ken R. Reichard, and her daughter Mrs. Phyllis Hart of Carmel. Also there were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hancock of Carmel. Attending from Pebble Beach was George Tomlinson.

TWO TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Two traffic accidents were reported in the Carmel area, one on November 10 at Santa Fe Street and Third Avenue where two boys on a bicycle were involved in a collision with a car, and one on November 13 at Atherton Drive and Trevis Way where the Highway Patrol reported a truck-car collision.

Planners To Act On Two Developments In Business District

development; four offices opening off a balcony on the second story at the rear of the building. Materials will be stucco with dark green wood trim. Existing buildings on the two-lot site will be demolished. They are Su Vecino restaurant and an antique shop.

Commissioners also decided to review studies to control signs and outside lights for rooming houses made when a zoning ordinance to implement the Livingston master plan for Carmel was under consideration. When the Livingston plan was repudiated, recommendations for these two matters were not incorporated into the city's new zoning ordinance.

Commissioner Florence Josselyn, disturbed by lighting at a guest house in the vicinity of Ocean Avenue and Carpenter Street, suggested that commissioners again formulate a policy on rooming house signs and lighting.

Vice-Chairman Fred Keeble, presiding in the absence of Chairman Herbert Blanks, asked Planning Commissioner Secretary Larry Rose to prepare a report on the previous recommendations on these matters, in preparation for again establishing a policy.

"It's no use letting the situation get worse, then do something," he remarked.

Grassroots Cooperation Necessary, State Scenic Hi-way Planners Stress

ised, yesterday, he will introduce a scenic highway bill. Representatives from the various state organizations interested in scenic highways came here yesterday at his invitation.

Harry Freeman, deputy director of the State Department of Public Works and a member of the inter-departmental committee, stated, "City and county planning commissions must realize it is important to keep master plans up-to-date. Local governments have terrific responsibility in this respect if California is to have scenic highways," he added.

William Lipman, senior planner for the state, also a member of the committee, advocated that cities and counties institute a great deal of analysis of land use control, also that counties undertake scenic highway studies.

"We rely on good thinking at the local level," he emphasized.

Mr. Lipman also remarked that the inter-departmental committee was developing scenic highway studies and endeavoring to bring order out of chaos in the scenic highway program in order to present a full progress report to the Legislature. As wide as possible discussion throughout the state will aid this program, he declared.

Lawrence Livingston Jr., member of the citizens' advisory committee, said his group will welcome evidence suggesting localities appropriate for state scenic highways, although he warned the scenic highway program must be comprehensive in scope and not limited to "pet projects."

Robert Grunwald, another member of the citizens' committee, said that if a state system of scenic highways is to be effective, the people in the state must aid the two committees in order that the scenic highway program may be statewide in comprehension. This means "grassroots work at the local level" he pointed out.

Harry Schmidt, president of the state county supervisors' association, also on the citizens' scenic highway advisory committee, promised help for a co-ordinated state scenic highway program from California counties. County roads must be co-ordinated with state roads in the scenic highway program was his opinion.

Charles P. Walker, president of the League of California Cities and a citizens' advisory committee member, said the league was ready to cooperate in the scenic highway program of statewide interest. He remarked that scenic highway planning "can't start too soon" and advocated community approach.

Mrs. Helen Reynolds, representing the California Roadside Council, stressed the importance of municipal and county co-operation in implementation of standards for scenic highways. J. C. Spencer of the California Automobile Association wanted scenic highways to encompass many segments of the state, not be "corridors."

F. A. Wallace, State Chamber of Commerce representative, pointed out that tourism is the third biggest business in the state. He wanted scenic highways to have roadside rests and litter control.

Bruce Kilgore, speaking for the Sierra Club, asked consideration of natural road values in scenic highway planning. Preservation of scenic areas; no freeways; were points he stressed.

George W. Wheelwright of the Scenic Roads Association protested four-lane scenic highway development and canyon fills instead of bridges. "Keep scenic roads small; built into the land," he advocated.

Robert Trask Cox represented the California Council of the American Institute of Architects at yesterday morning's scenic highway meeting.

"Freeways should not be engineered but designed," he stressed. His group was "very much concerned with beauty," he said.

Santa Cruz Supervisor Robert Burton suggested scenic highways be curved, billboards eliminated.

Colonel Burton Willis, chairman of the Santa Cruz County Planning Commission, emphasized the urgency for planning scenic highways. Mrs. Olive Walker, president of the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club urged retention of trees and natural vegetation along scenic highways. Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the Carmel Citizens Committee, asked the state scenic highway planners to take immediate steps to remove scenic roads from the state freeway system. He suggested a moratorium on freeway and expressway construction until the scenic highway system is planned. C. Edward Graves urged scenic highway planners to study the forthcoming annual bulletin of the Sierra Club with pictures of Highway One below Carmel taken by Philip Hyde. Will Shaw suggested historic buildings, also new architectural developments of worth, be on scenic highway routes.

Carmel City Councilman Francis Whitaker asked the state scenic highway planners to observe how Carmel blends its roads into the landscape. He doesn't want California scenic highways to be like the new roads in the Tioga Pass and Lake Tenaya area of the Sierra. Inclusion of agricultural areas in scenic route planning was advocated by Robert Grunwald.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey stated Carmel was deeply interested and tied up with protection of scenic values; it is the lifeblood of this community. The coastal area must be preserved and freeway development in this region curbed, he added.

resident of the Highlands reported seeing "an adult male on a trick-or-treat expedition on Hallowe'en night, dressed in his own street clothing and a dragon's head, minus the dragon body."

This, however, turned out to be another dragon, a creature fashioned by the wearer's wife who, it was reported, does this sort of thing more or less as a hobby. She has made other dragons for plays and pageants.

So all the investigation has disclosed so far, it seems, is that there are more dragons around than we thought.

The exclusive firm, moved here from Stony Ridge, Ohio, by Wermuth Cal Van Storage Company in conjunction with Allied Van Lines, bears the names of its two partners, House and Hurd.

The 37,000-pound shipment represents the stock of the antique shop, plus some household furnishings of the proprietor who will live in Carmel Meadows, a transportation company spokesman said.

Police Chief Gets Robber Suspect In Twelve Short Minutes

and another teller, John Rennels, immediately called police from the bank.

Chief Klaumann arrived in his patrol car and picked up Rennels. Meanwhile, Assistant Fire Chief James R. Belvail, whose electric truck is equipped with police radio equipment, had heard the same call and cruised down Ocean Avenue looking for the suspect.

Belvail saw Moyer walking west on Ocean Avenue near Casanova Street and notified Klaumann who in turn asked Belvail to keep Moyer under observation. Klaumann caught up with the suspect when he reached Camino Real and was walking down the pedestrian path above street level.

Chief Klaumann pulled alongside the man, laid his police service revolver across the open window and called to Moyer to approach, "real easy."

But, according to the report, Moyer "bolted like a deer," disappearing behind a hedge. Klaumann sprang out of the patrol car, calling, "Halt!" to Moyer. Moyer kept on running and Klaumann "snapped off a shot at his legs" when Moyer reappeared about 50 yards away.

Klaumann followed Moyer into a fenced yard at the Wilfred E. van Loben Sels home nearby, and found Moyer hiding under a clump of tree ferns. The chief of police held the suspect at gun-point while he removed the pistol from him. He discovered that Moyer's left leg and hip were bleeding and took him to the hospital for emergency treatment.

Moyer was turned over to Deputy Walter Victorine of the Monterey County sheriff's substation in Monterey. Since the Carmel Savings and Loan Association is insured by the federal government, officers also notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Moyer was transferred from Community Hospital to the Fort Ord Hospital.

The paper bag, containing $1,311 in cash, was discovered on Saturday near the Church of the Wayfarer, where Moyer had apparently dropped it going over a wall, and turned over to FBI officers.

On Monday Moyer was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner James Jeffery. He waived preliminary examination and was returned to county jail to await federal court action on his case. He was removed to San Francisco later this week in custody of U. S. Marshal James Egan.

Moyer admitted taking the money "on impulse." Under federal law, he could receive up to 20 years in prison and $5,000 fine if convicted.
